KEYNOTE SPEAKER

DREW BREES

Drew Brees is the former 2009 Super Bowl MVP-winning quarterback for the New Orleans Saints. A native of Austin, TX, Brees attended Westlake High School and earned his bachelor's degree in industrial management from Krannert School of Management at Purdue University, while lettering in football from 1997-2000. Drew went on to play five years with the San Diego Chargers and fifteen years with the New Orleans Saints. He has been elected to 13 Pro Bowls while being named 2004 Comeback Player of the Year, 2006 All-Pro Team, 2006 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year, 2008 and 2011 NFL Offensive Player of the Year and Super Bowl XLIV Champion and MVP.

As much pride as Brees takes in his on-field performance, he takes even more pride in his community service endeavors. Drew and his wife, Brittany, established the Brees Dream Foundation in 2003 and since then have contributed over $50,000,000 to help improve the quality of life for cancer patients and provide care, education and opportunities for children and families in need. In addition to his personal foundation, Drew has co-founded SHIELD 1 Foundation to address the greatest needs in our communities, including but not limited to housing, healthcare, education, business opportunity, economic development, urban farming, support of HBCUs, social justice and legislative reform.

Brees is a proud partner of the GBX Group, Jimmy Johns, Walk-Ons Enterprises, Football N America, Smalls Sliders and Franworth. He participates as a Board Member for Surf Sports, Stretch Zone, Franworth and formerly with the NFLPA and President's Council for Fitness, Sports and Nutrition.

Brees has also proudly participated in five USO trips visiting Kuwait, Iraq, Afghanistan, Germany, Turkey, Djibouti, Dubai, Okinawa and Guantanamo Bay. Drew currently lives with his wife Brittany and children Baylen, Bowen, Callen and Rylen in San Diego, CA.

AND PALMER SIGNATURE COURSE

*Sponsored by Victaulic & Carrier Corporation

Continental Breakfast	7:00 A.M. – 7:45 A.M.
Shotgun Start	7:00 A.M.

The Annual Golf Tournament will be held Sunday, March 15, 2026, with an 8:00 a.m. shotgun start. This year we will be playing two beautiful courses on property at the Wildfire Golf Club, the Faldo Championship Course and the Palmer Signature Course.

The Faldo Championship Course plays up to 6,846 yards and offers an inspired variation of the typical desert-themed course. Featuring generous fairways, a large green and 108 sand bunkers, the surrounding mountains and cacti become the backdrop for a championship round.

The Palmer Signature Course plays up to 7,145 yards and provides an unmatched scenic golfing experience. The flashed bunkering on Palmer is superb, and the putting greens carry plenty of undulation, like many Arnold Palmer designs.

Both courses are on-property at the JW Marriott Desert Ridge and pairings will be available at MCAA's Sports Desk on Saturday, March 14.

- Golf = $295
- Golf with rental clubs = $425

Visit the Sports Desk on Saturday, March 14 for more information.

Boots on the Ground

MONDAY, MARCH 16 | 10:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM E - G

This powerful keynote talks about what it takes to be ready for battle every day. What do the best leaders ask of themselves and of their teams, and how do teams operate best? Learn from the front lines of a Navy SEAL commander and put it into action right away.

Key takeaways:

- Discover the principles and discipline needed to operate at peak performance under pressure.
- Apply proven, front-line leadership lessons to achieve consistent results in any situation.
- Learn how elite leaders prepare themselves and their teams to face challenges with confidence every day.

Commander Rorke Denver has run every phase of training for the U.S. Navy SEALs and led special-forces missions in the Middle East, Africa, Latin America and other international hot spots. Rorke was an assault team leader for over 200 combat missions and awarded the Bronze Star with "V" for valorous action in combat.

His first book, New York Times bestseller Damn Few: Making the Modern SEAL Warrior, takes you inside his personal story and the fascinating, demanding SEAL training program. His second book, Worth Dying For, speaks to leadership, service and the future of our nation. Rorke starred in the hit film Act of Valor, which is based on true SEAL adventures. He also led a team in Season One of the FOX TV show American Grit, alongside host John Cena.

Beyond the Horizon: Shaping the Next Era of Mechanical Contracting

MONDAY, MARCH 16 | 10:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM A - D

The mechanical contracting industry is changing faster than it ever has before and we, as industry leaders, need to stay on top of the curve. In this interactive seminar, MCAA's President-elect and three members of MCAA's President's Advisory Council, will share areas of concentration to successfully navigate this next era of mechanical contracting: strategic planning, market conditions and talent retention.

A contractor's strategic plan looks different now as opposed to five years ago, and has evolved to focus on agility, diversification and workforce sustainability, with investments in technology and expanded services. Meanwhile, current market conditions vary widely—some regions are booming while others face slowdowns—making strategic project selection and labor planning more critical than ever. Additionally, talent retention remains a huge factor as competition rises.

Join your peers to discuss how we are all handling and responding to these everyday challenges.

Robert Beck is CEO of the John W. Danforth Company, one of the largest mechanical contractors in the Eastern United States and is an MCAA Past President. Additionally, Robert serves as co-chair of the MCAA/UA Strategic Planning Committee.

Curtis Harbour is Vice President, Labor Relations with Southland Industries based in Houston, Texas. Additionally, Curtis serves as President-elect of MCAA's Executive Committee and Past President of the Dallas, Houston and Texas MCAs.

Brian Helm is President of Helm Group, Inc., one of the largest specialty contractors in the Midwest serving Chicago, Milwaukee, Kansas City and Omaha. Additionally, Brian is President of MCAA's John R. Gentile Foundation, an MCAA Past President, and the recipient of the 2022 Distinguished Service Award, MCAA's highest industry honor.

Mark Rogers is President and Founder of West Chester Mechanical Contractors, an HVAC, service and plumbing contractor that serves the Philadelphia area specializing in private commercial work in the healthcare and educational arenas. Mark is an MCAA Past President and recipient of the 2017 Distinguished Service Award, MCAA's highest honor. He is a speaker with MCAA's National Education Initiative and travels the country educating on leadership and our industry.

Why Aren't Your Salespeople Closing More Deals?

MONDAY, MARCH 16 | 10:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM H - K

Join a powerful session that uncovers why even skilled salespeople struggle to close and what to do about it.

You'll learn a proven, time-tested Buyer Facilitator philosophy that helps your team stop selling and start helping people buy. Walk away with practical tools to shift mindsets, uncover real buying motives and increase close rates without pressure or pushiness.

Perfect for owners, leaders, sales professionals and project managers—or anyone who engages directly with clients and prospects.

Jorge Chavez is the President of Topaz Sales Consulting and a nationally recognized expert in sales training and sales hiring strategy. With a background in transforming underperforming sales teams into top producers, Jorge brings over three decades of experience helping leaders build repeatable, coachable and sustainable sales systems.

Through his Buyer Facilitator methodology, Jorge helps salespeople shift from traditional selling to a consultative, trust-first approach that aligns with today's buyers. His clients routinely see measurable improvements in closing rates, team accountability and revenue growth.

Jorge is passionate about empowering professionals to become confident communicators and trusted advisors.

Career Path Mapping

MONDAY, MARCH 16 | 1:30 P.M. – 3:00 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM H - K

Organizations are justifiably concerned about the ability to retain talent in an environment where availability of workers is very scarce. Additionally, the changing needs of today's workforce require employers to reassess their employee development programs. Career path mapping brings clarity to an otherwise cloaked path of progression, allowing the employee to understand opportunities within the firm and engaging them in creating, and owning, their own map.

Stephane McShane is a Director at Maxim Consulting Group responsible for the evaluation and implementation processes with clients. Stephane works with construction related firms of all sizes to evaluate business practices and assist with management challenges. With a large depth of experience working in the construction industry, Stephane is keenly aware of the business and, most specifically, operational challenges that firms face. Her areas of expertise include: leadership development, executive coaching, organizational assessments, strategic planning, project execution, business development, productivity improvement and training programs.

Importance of ITR Economics' Outlook for 2026 and Early 2027

MONDAY, MARCH 16 | 1:30 P.M. – 3:00 P.M.

WILDFLOWER BALLROOM

*Sponsored by Baltimore Aircoil Company

Business owners and operators stand to benefit significantly from understanding ITR Economics' outlook for 2026 and early 2027. The insights provided can help decision makers anticipate and navigate the complex economic landscape that lies ahead. ITR's leading indicators show that while 2026 may begin with a mild upturn, momentum could slow for some industries later in the year and into 2027—making it essential for businesses to stay informed and proactive. Key reasons include:

- Anticipation of economic shifts: Businesses can adjust their strategies to align with predicted changes in GDP and Industrial Production growth.
- Risk management: Early awareness allows for the implementation of measures to mitigate potential downturns in volume and increases in cost.

Furthermore, the ability to anticipate weak periods and set plans to act accordingly can be the deciding factor between merely surviving or thriving. As industries face varying impacts, specific insights into which sectors are more likely to falter will be invaluable. Additional reasons why the outlook is essential include:

- Investment planning: Businesses can make informed decisions about capital expenditures and resource allocation.
- Competitive advantage: Early movers can gain an edge by adapting ahead of their competitors.

Taylor St. Germain is an experienced economist and consultant with ITR Economics, specializing in market and company-level forecasting. He advises small businesses, trade associations and Fortune 500 companies across diverse industries, contributing to ITR's industry-leading 94.7% forecast accuracy.

Before joining ITR, Taylor worked in the tech industry providing market intelligence to OEMs and semiconductor firms. Based in Texas, he continues to research industrial trends, particularly in oil and gas. He holds a bachelor's degree in statistics from the University of Vermont and is completing a master's in applied economics at Southern New Hampshire University. Taylor has been featured in OEM Magazine, NALP, Lawn & Landscape and on the Fab Lab and Wealth Formula podcasts.

PFAS and Plumbing: What Contractors Need to Know Now

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 | 11:30 A.M. – 12:30 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM A - D

*Sponsored by Plumbing Contractors of America

PFAS—also known as “forever chemicals”—are rapidly becoming a top concern in the plumbing industry, with evolving legislation, increasing client awareness and new filtration technologies driving the demand for contractor expertise. This education session offers an overview of what PFAS are, current legislation, available filtration options and mitigation solutions, as well as emerging technologies. You’ll also hear from PCA Board members, Adrienne Bennett, Scott Nielsen and Michael Wallenstein, on how their companies are actively incorporating PFAS knowledge into their plumbing operations. Get the knowledge you need to stay ahead of the PFAS game.

Adrienne Bennett, President & CEO of Benkari, LLC, is a pioneer in America’s plumbing and construction industries. She is North America’s first and only female licensed master plumber and plumbing contractor; America’s first African American female plumbing inspector and certified medical gas inspector and installer; and one of America’s few minority-owned, woman-owned and operated, self-performing, union specialty trade contractors.

Scott Nielsen has been with the Zurn Elkay organization for 13 years. During this time at Zurn Elkay, Scott has held leadership roles within mergers & acquisitions, business development, strategy and most recently as head of Elkay’s drinking water filtration business. He has a passion for providing cleaner, safer and more sustainable hydration to schools, businesses, homes and much more! Scott’s current role as leader of the filtration business includes overall responsibility for the business’ strategy, growth, innovation and management.

Michael Wallenstein is Co-President and a third-generation owner of Neptune Plumbing & Heating Co., where he has served for over 15 years. After eight years as Director of Business Development, he and his brother, Adam, took over as Co-Presidents in 2016, leading the company's growth and innovation across Greater Cleveland.

Under their leadership, Neptune has advanced in technology, employee development and community involvement. The company has been named a Top Workplace five years in a row, and the brothers received the Entrepreneur of the Year Award in 2019.

Michael is an active member of MCAA and MSCA and has served on the PCA Board since 2022 and the MSCA/UA Labor Committee since 2024.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM H - K

Sponsored by Mechanical Service Contractors of America

How much does a service hour really cost your business—and are you charging enough to cover it? In this 60-minute session, MSCA Chair David Geith will break down the true cost of a service hour, line by line. From labor burden, overhead, tools, training, travel time and administrative support, David will explain all the hidden and not-so-hidden costs that impact your bottom line.

Learn how to accurately calculate your service rate while avoiding common pricing pitfalls and set rates that reflect both value and viability. Whether you're reviewing your rates or building them from the ground up, this session gives you the clarity and confidence to price smarter.

David Geith is the Vice President of Service at EMCOR Services Mesa Energy in the Irvine, CA branch. His responsibilities include supervision over technician training, project planning and management, process scheduling and sales. In addition, he is the 2026 MSCA Chair, along with being on the MSCA Board of Managers and an MSCA Service Managers Training instructor.

David attended the University of Michigan for education and is a certified instructor of Journeyman and Apprentices. He is active in the Union Training Program helping to develop and teach curriculum for the Apprenticeship as a Licensed UA Instructor.

The Power of Leaving Your Comfort Zone

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 | 9:15 A.M. – 10:45 A.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM E - G

Sponsored by Reece

In most ways, people today are more comfortable than ever. For example, we spend 93 percent of our time indoors in temperature control, we get our food from a drive-through window or microwave instead of hunting and gathering and our biggest stresses are presentations and artificial deadlines rather than ferocious tigers.

This lifestyle clearly has benefits, but it also has pernicious drawbacks. Michael Easter's investigative reporting shows that our overly comfortable and convenient lifestyles explain everything from why we feel burnout and get so stressed by events as harmless as traffic jams and work presentations, to why we're suffering from a creativity crisis and face the highest rates of chronic mental and physical diseases in human history.

Through vivid storytelling, he reveals the life-changing power of leaving our comfort zones. Along the way he lays out a handful of simple tactics we can use to expand our comfort zone. The result: We're left healthier, happier, more creative and productive, with calm and grace in the face of even the biggest stressors.

Michael Easter is the New York Times bestselling author of The Comfort Crisis and Scarcity Brain. He travels the world to uncover practical ideas that help people live healthier, happier, more remarkable lives at home and at work. His ideas have been published in over 60 countries and been featured in The New York Times, Good Morning America, CBS News, Fox News, Wall Street Journal and more. He lives in Las Vegas on the edge of the desert with his wife and two dogs.

The Data Center Explosion: What's Fueling It and What's the Impact?

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 | 9:15 A.M. – 10:45 A.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM H - K

Discover the driving forces behind the explosive growth in data center construction across the United States and around the globe. Join a panel of industry experts as they explore the key factors fueling this unprecedented expansion, including the rise of artificial intelligence and cloud computing. The panel will also examine what's influencing site selection across the country, the investment strategies behind new developments and the significant impact these facilities are having on the nation's electrical infrastructure and skilled labor in the mechanical industry.

With a passion for complex and challenging projects, Tom Doig is a seasoned leader with more than 30 years of experience in the construction and development industries. He excels at guiding the design and construction of mission-critical data centers, cultivating high-performing teams to deliver capacity on time and on budget. Tom ensures compliance with the highest standards of safety and ethics and leverages his expertise to optimize performance and foster a culture of extreme collaboration and diversity.

Rick Gopffarth is the Immediate Past President of MCAA and Senior Vice President of Preconstruction for Dynamic Systems, Inc., a national turnkey mechanical and process construction firm. As an active industry leader, Rick has served as President of both the MCA of Dallas and MCA of Texas and held numerous committee and board roles with MCAA, including Education, Strategic Planning and the Manufacturer/Supplier Council Executive Committee.*

Chris Madello serves as the UA International Representative for Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C., and represents the UA on all data center projects nationwide.

A former Business Manager of Steamfitters UA Local 602, Chris has also led the Mid-Atlantic Pipe Trades Association and served on the UA/MSCA Joint HVACR Labor Management Committee. He has dedicated his career to growing membership, strengthening contractor partnerships and advancing labor-management relations.

Patrick Miller is a highly accomplished Global Labor Manager based in Portland, Oregon, with extensive experience in labor relations, contract negotiations, supplier development and project management across mega-projects and multibillion-dollar initiatives. Currently serving as Director of Global Labor Management for Data Center Delivery at Microsoft, Patrick has led strategic labor engagement, managed major labor agreements and pioneered data-driven workforce planning solutions. Previously, at Intel, Patrick was instrumental in labor relations, workforce development and procurement, negotiating landmark agreements and driving cost savings. His career includes international work, guest speaking at industry conferences, board leadership roles and holding eight patents in semiconductor process technology. Patrick's education spans Harvard Law School, Arizona State University and other institutions, with certifications in negotiation, construction management and project management.

Adam E. Snavelly is President and CEO of The Poole and Kent Corporation, a leading mechanical construction, service and engineering firm headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland. Over the course of his career with Poole and Kent, Adam has held management roles across multiple regions—including Alaska, Georgia and South Carolina—before returning to Baltimore to oversee strategic growth and innovation. Under Adam's leadership, Poole and Kent has expanded its market reach and delivered some of the region's most complex mechanical projects for healthcare, industrial and mission-critical clients throughout the eastern United States. He has been a driving force behind the company's adoption of lean construction practices, advancements in VDC technology, growth of DFMA and off-site manufacturing facilities and use of autonomous robotics. Adam is a passionate advocate for connecting industry with education and community. In addition to his service on the MCAA Board of Directors and role as an instructor for MCAA's AIPM and IPM programs, Adam has served in executive roles on numerous boards spanning industry associations, universities and private schools—many focused on mentoring, workforce development and educational pathways into the A/E/C and specialty trades sectors.

Game On: The Future Winner's Circle for Your Company

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 | 11:00 A.M. – 12:30 P.M.

GRAND SONORAN BALLROOM H - K

Moderator:

Andrew Palcan – MCAA Career Development Chair / Helm Group, Inc. Project Manager

This interactive roundtable discussion will hop, skip and jump your company's understanding and perception of your future workforce prominently into the winner's circle. The game is on for not only securing talent, but for truly developing a cohesive workplace that utilizes the unique skillsets of all generations on your team.

Roundtable Teams

- MCAA Members
- Student Chapter President / Leader
- Faculty / Industry Advisor
- Career Development Committee Member

Don't settle for a participation trophy, round out our championship discussion team and learn how to position your company for the ultimate victory—a GREAT future!

Andrew Palcan graduated from the Milwaukee School of Engineering (MSOE) with a B.S./M.S. in Architectural Engineering. He was a member of his MCAA student chapter for his final two years in school, participated in the Student Chapter Competition and presented on stage in San Diego in 2017. He met the President of his current company in Orlando at the 2016 MCAA Convention and secured an internship for the following summer during his final year of school. Andrew has now been with Helm for seven years.

He started out as a project engineer, working with a project manager who ran his own work in their Milwaukee office. He spent most of his internship estimating and helping on a handful of small projects. Once he moved to Helm's Chicago office, he was immediately sent out to the field to help with a pharmaceutical project as a project engineer for the sheet metal team but eventually ended up working on both the sheet metal and process piping teams. He was on site for about a year and then returned to the office to continue estimating industrial work. One and a half years post-graduation, he was given the opportunity to run a school job as a project manager. He worked with a piping and sheet metal foreman for about a year on the renovation, which then increased to a new build for an additional year.

He has recently been involved with Helm's data center projects. Following graduation, Andrew knew he wanted to stay involved with MCAA and joined the Career Development Committee. After serving on the committee for three years, he was asked to take on the role of committee chair.

Intro to AI for Mechanical Contractors

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 | 11:00 A.M. – 12:30 P.M.

WILDFLOWER BALLROOM

This foundational course introduces AI concepts tailored for mechanical contractors. Attendees will learn how AI is transforming the industry and walk away with practical tools and strategies for immediate adoption.

This class will be limited to 50 attendees and pre-registration is required. All attendees should bring a laptop and smart phone to the class. Attendees are also encouraged to bring any Excel files or project files they want to use to experiment with the AI tools being explored.

Chris Carr is the founder of Farotech, a digital marketing agency, and Dynaimix.ai. Since 2021, he has focused on how AI is reshaping business—and how most companies aren't ready.

Certified in Generative AI by MIT and Wharton, Chris leads workshops and speaks nationally to help businesses stay ahead of AI-driven disruption. He co-hosted the Digital Marketing Masterclass podcast with Andy Crestodina and is a recognized expert in AI strategy, consulting and training.

WEDNESDAY

Technology and Fabrication Roundtable: Lessons Learned from Contractors

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 | 11:00 A.M. – 12:30 P.M.

DESERT SUITES 4 - 6

Contractors today are reshaping how technology is applied in the office and in day-to-day operations, while also advancing how it is used in fabrication facilities and in the field. This roundtable discussion between MCAA's Sean McGuire and Jeff Elwell, CTO of E.M. Duggan will highlight lessons learned directly from MCAA members. Drawing on insights from the 2025 MCAA Fabrication Conference and the 2026 MEP Innovation Conference, the discussion will show how contractors are using new tools and strategies to improve performance, productivity and workforce well-being.

Topics will include the rise of data centers and their impact on manpower and mental health. We will look at approaches to productivity tracking and the use of analytics as operations digitize. The discussion will also cover automation in both project management and welding, the role of AI in construction workflows and how service contractors are applying automation to improve efficiency. New emphasis will be placed on model-based fabrication and the growing role of CTOs in guiding technology strategy for contractors. Attendees will also hear what's driving the focus of the 2026 MCAA Fabrication and 2027 MEP Innovation Conferences, with a preview of the conversations and innovations that will define the next phase of contractor-led progress.

Jeff Elwell is the Chief Technology Officer at E.M. Duggan, a leading mechanical contractor based in Greater Boston. With over a decade of experience in construction technology (ConTech), Jeff has established himself as a prominent figure in the industry, particularly in the areas of Building Information Modeling (BIM), automation and field technology.

Sean McGuire is the Executive Director of Innovative Technologies and Fabrication at MCAA. In this role, he collaborates with the MCAA Innovative Technologies Committee to develop research and educational resources on emerging technologies, tools and processes that benefit MCAA members. Additionally, Sean serves as the liaison for the MCAA Fabrication Committee and the John R. Gentile Foundation, focusing on advancing the industry's technological capabilities and promoting innovation.

With a strong background in technology advocacy, Sean has been instrumental in driving the adoption of cutting-edge solutions such as Building Information Modeling (BIM) and digital integration within the mechanical contracting sector. His efforts aim to empower contractors with the latest data and tools to enhance efficiency and productivity. Sean's dedication to innovation and education have made him a key resource in preparing the industry for the future and driving the industry forward.

GRAND SAGUARO BALLROOM FOYER

*Sponsored by Viega

Students looking for internships or full-time positions will be wearing “Hire Me” pins throughout MCAA26. Three groupings of tables will be set up in the foyer space of the M/SC Exhibit with students eager to learn about employment opportunities at your company. The tables will be geographically split by west, central and east. Make your way over to the area that best represents your company and find your next great hire!

Student Chapter Competition

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 | 1:30 P.M. – 3:30 P.M.

GRAND CANYON BALLROOM

Witness our industry's emerging leaders as they compete in the annual MCAA Student Chapter Competition. Four teams will compete for a total prize package of $26,500, with the first-place team going home with $10,000! These accomplished students secured their Final Four spot by submitting a written proposal that rose to the top of nearly 30 submissions for a real-world project bid (contributed by Helm Group).

Students will display their impressive presentation skills and insightful knowledge of mechanical systems as they take the stage for Round 2 of the competition. Following their 10-minute formal presentation, each team will be put on the spot for an additional 10 minutes of live Q&A from the panel of judges.

Don't miss your opportunity to vote for the MVP—Most Valuable Presenter—and cheer on your favorite team!
